

1850 United States Lynns, Etc. Born in Ireland

Spellings found include Lind, Line, Linn, Lyn, Lynd, Lyne, and Lynn

Note:

1. Geographical abbreviations include two-letter State abbreviations and two- or three-letter country abbreviations (e.g., IRE for Ireland and US for United States).
2. States are listed alphabetically (i.e., as they would be written out rather than abbreviated).
3. Certain Virginia counties of 1850 became West Virginia during the Civil War and are listed here as "VA [WV] ...".
4. The City of Baltimore, which in 1850 was part of Baltimore County, became an independent city in 1851. Districts were in Baltimore County but outside the City.
5. Within residence groupings, individuals are then listed in birth order (i.e., earliest to latest), except in some instances where a son born in Ireland is listed immediately following his father and other, older Irish-born men in the same location are listed following the son.
6. Sons not born in Ireland have been placed in a separate column, and their birthplaces are listed in the "Note" column.
7. Also in the "Note" column are observations concerning either possible relationships or persons of a different surname with whom a child or very young man was living. This is important because a child might be living with grandparents or with a mother and stepfather. In the latter case, the head of household and his wife of course would bear a different surname than the child.
8. Every other household on this chart is shaded.
9. While many Irish and "Scotch-Irish" settled in the State of Pennsylvania, a number of 1850 Pennsylvania census takers regrettably failed to list birthplaces.
10. Some of the individuals on this chart may not be easily found when searching the census at a certain website because the indexer for that site misread the capital letter "L" as an "S". The error becomes clear when one such name is compared, on the actual census image, to the Ls and Ss in obvious names such as "Lucy" and "Smith" appearing nearby. Anyone having trouble finding a specific person on this chart in the census should search for the name beginning with "S".
